DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2 and 7-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Willden et al in view of Lackman et al 4,256,790. The primary reference discloses the invention substantially as claimed, namely a skin of fiber-reinforced material with stiffeners arranged in rows on one surface, a fiber-reinforced material adhered to the skin and stiffeners, and ribs or frame members connecting the stiffeners; see Figure 2, column 1, lines 20-25 and column 2, lines 27-55. However, it does not disclose the use of stitching in the laminate. The secondary reference discloses stitching in a laminate along flange portions of stiffeners, in a longitudinal direction of the stiffeners; see Figure 6, column 3, lines 34-40 and column 4, lines 50-58. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide stitching in a longitudinal direction of the flange portions of the stiffeners in the article of the primary reference in view of the secondary reference in order to reinforce the joint and to provide a means of holding the laminate together for co-curing as opposed to curing individual parts prior to layup. The various process limitations, such as "by a RTM or an RFI method", "so as to be loosened in some places", etc. do not provide patentably distinguishing structural features to the final products.

Concerning claim 13, the use of metal as opposed to a composite material is suggested by the fact that composite materials were developed to be used in place of metals; see column 1, lines 26-32. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use metal stiffeners in the product of the primary reference if a heavier, weaker laminate could be tolerated.

Regarding claims 14 and 15, the reference shows a L-shaped stiffener attached to the second sheet; see Figure 4 for example. Forming a stiffener from two pieces (claim 15) as opposed to one piece is an obvious design engineering choice in view of In Re Larson, 144 USPQ 347 (CCPA 1965) which states that it is within the general skill of a worker in the art to make plural parts unitary.

Conclusion

3. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
